

BENEFACTOR'S DEDICATION

In memory of my ever-so-sweet brother, Albie Miller, born 6 June 1951, died 16 October 1974. May the joyful exuberance, childlike wonderment and peace of mind that escaped you be yours again—now and always. May your dear heart be overflowing with unimaginable bliss, forever.

And in memory of my grandmother, "Boo" Fleischhacker, whose honesty, generosity, kindness and caring—and special love and respect for animals—left an indelible impression on my heart and mind. Her loving example made these qualities so very appealing—an example that was as compelling as it was unassuming. May you reap countless benefits for all the goodness you brought into this world and may boundless joy be your eternal companion.

And to all who have made these dedications possible.
